Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments filed with the appeal brief November 11th, 2006 have been fully considered but they are persuasive.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 1, 2, 4-32 and 34-67 allowed over prior arts of Council et al (U.S. PG Pub 2001/0023432) in view of Knepper et al (U.S. PG Pub No. 2001/0042249).
3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:
 - a. Applicant disclose a system and method for providing a fee address capable of monitoring information sent and asynchronously received to a fee address, determining a fee for the information or mail wherein the fee is based on a preferences record defined by a mail recipient, collecting the fee, and forwarding the information to a private address. Applicant's inventive concept is novel and innovative in the sense that it provides means for determining a fee for the information, based upon a preferences record defined by the e-mail recipient; means for collecting the fee from the sender into a first account, means for forwarding the information received at the public fee address to a private e-mail address associated with the e-mail recipient; and means for transferring the collected fee to a second account. Council the closest prior art teach a method and apparatus for determining whether a party sending an email communication is on a list of parties authorized by the intended receiving party. If the sending party is not on the list of authorized parties, the recipient is provided with the option of paying, or agreeing to pay, a fee in return for the message being provided to the intended receiving party. Knepper et al teach a method of delivery and playback of video and/or audio media files on a client-side computer. The method should enable smooth playback of these media files, regardless of the speed or quality of a user's Internet connection. Council taken alone or in combination with Knepper et al fail to teach or suggest the invention as claimed by the Applicant.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. (see form 892).
